Exuberant GOPs Applaud Ike's Assurance

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exuberant Republicans heard President Eisenhower's assurance Wednesday night that his administration is making the United States the "strongest power on earth" in the military and economic fields.

From Vice President Richard Nixon came a clear message that while he would be happy to inherit Eisenhower's peace and prosperity laurels, he will not be content merely to stand on the sidelines of the new Republican presidential nominee.

In Washington, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York cautioned GOP colleagues they can't coast on Eisenhower's personal triumphs because he said the voters will want to know in November "what happens next."

It was a rousing night for the Grand Old Party. More than 100,000 persons, paying from $25 to $100 a plate, gathered in 83 cities in 43 states for a closed circuit television "Dinner with Ike."

Like Eisenhower and Nixon, Cabinet members and others, high in Republican circles deserted Washington to address the dinners individually.

There was no public telecast, but those attending the dinners cheered vigorously a President who has as Rockefeller put it, "rescued the party from '20 years of wandering in the wilderness.'"

There were thunderous cheers for Nixon, who spoke to 7,000 persons in the International Amphitheater in Chicago. That is where the Republicans are expected to give him their presidential nomination next July.

Even Eisenhower, who had sat smilingly at a table in the Pan-Pacific Auditorium in Los Angeles while other speakers were introduced, jumped up and waved when Nixon's countenance was flashed on the TV screen.

Rockefeller, who likes Ike but shows no signs of extending this affection to Nixon, got warm approval.

Camden to Get New Federal Bldg.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration has recommended construction of a new $887,000 federal building and post office at Camden, Ark.

The Camden building was one of 48 recommended by the GSA in its annual report of Public Works committees of both the House and Senate. These committees must approve the projects before GSA can ask for appropriations.

Postmaster General Arthur Sumnerfield announced yesterday that new post offices will be built at Hoxie, Ark., and Bradley, Ark. No cost estimates were made.

Financing Laws to Get Court Test

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus' legal adviser, William J. Smith of Little Rock, says a court test of one of Arkansas' new industrial financing laws probably will be filed in Independence Chancery Court soon.

State officials and Batesville industrial development leaders met at Batesville last night to discuss the suit.

A test suit, routine when laws authorizing bond issues are passed, was expected to be filed last Monday, but details of preparing the action caused a delay.

Batesville will be one of the first cities to use the new law which permits cities and counties to issue tax-free revenue bonds to build and equip plants for industry.

The Seiberling Rubber Co.'s decision to locate a $1,300,000 rubber goods plant here if adequate financing could be arranged was the factor in Faubus' decision to ask the Legislature to pass new financing laws.

No Progress in Rights Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights legislation showed little progress today despite a long round of partisan charges and counter-charges.

In a House talkfest of more than six hours yesterday, Northern and Western Democrats charged Republicans with maintaining a coalition with Southern Democrats to delay or defeat civil rights proposals.

They contended it would react against any action on a new administration voting rights proposal made Tuesday.

This would call for court-appointed referees to help safeguard voting rights.

Civil rights Democrats accused Republicans of hypocrisy and chided President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon for alleged lack of leadership.

They challenged Republicans to help break a rules Committee deadlock holding up civil rights legislation. They promised to work for an early vote on the Eisenhower plan by offering it as an amendment to the House bill, if it is freed from the committee.

But when the talking was over, the petition to take the bill away from the Rules Committee was reported still 29 signatures short of the 219 needed.

Each party in the House accused the other of responsibility for the civil rights tieup.

Rep. Glenn Cunningham of Nebraska, who represented the Republican leadership during much of the sparsely attended session, summed up the GOP reaction.

"This whole afternoon was a political maneuver."

Toad Suck Ferry Now Stuck in Real Mud

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The Toad Suck Ferry, which operates between Faulkner and Perry counties, ran aground on a sandbar in the Arkansas River yesterday.

It was still stuck today.

W. F. Turner, district engineer for the Highway Department at Russellville, said he learned of the incident in a telephone call from a man who complained that his pickup truck was stranded on the barge.

The state owns the equipment but the ferry is operated under lease by Clay Cross of Dumas.

Turner said presumably passengers on the ferry were taken off by a motorboat, which is kept on hand for such emergencies.

No one was injured.

Turner said efforts were being made to free the barge.

He said it might be necessary to get another boat to pull the craft off the bar.

Both Turner and R. B. Whitely, state maintenance engineer at Little Rock, said it was not unusual for the ferry to get stuck temporarily on one of the rapidly-formed sandbars, especially when the river is low.

The ferry is operated as part of state Highway 60.

Cubans Blame All Troubles on America

By RICHARD VALERIANI

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government insists the United States is responsible for the freeze in U.S.-Cuban relations.

It has rejected what it calls "insultations" by President Eisenhower that intrigues by international Communism may be causing the rift.

President Osvaldo Dorticos declared in a formal policy address Wednesday night that strained relations are "a direct consequence of the misunderstanding shown by the United States government toward the development and objectives of the Cuban revolution."

He added, however, that all problems between the two countries can be solved through normal diplomatic channels. If there is "absolute respect for our sovereignty."

Dorticos' speech, carried on TV, was in reply to Eisenhower's statement at his White House news conference Tuesday.

The President announced a policy of nonintervention in Cuban affairs. He added the U.S. government is confident the Cuban people will "recognize and defeat the intrigues of international Communism which are aimed at destroying democratic institutions in Cuba and the traditional and mutually beneficial friendship between the Cuban and American people."

Dorticos expressed "gratitude" over the nonintervention statement but said the Cuban government "rejects with all its energy" the implication that international Communism may be playing a role in Cuban-American relations.

The address by Dorticos gave him a rare opportunity to enjoy the national spotlight usually occupied by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Castro apparently was content to allow Dorticos to carry the diplomatic ball on this occasion.

The bearded leader, whose TV blasts at the United States are considered a major reason for present relations, made an unusually mild speech Wednesday night at ceremonies marking the 10th anniversary of the birth of Cuban patriot Jose Marti.

He made only veiled references to outside influences in Cuba. "It is curious," he said, "that a people making laws within its territory for its own people has to get into difficulties of an international character."

Red Missile Raid Thought Possible Within 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is conceivable that the Soviet Union will have enough long-range missiles within about two years to permit a massive missile attack on the United States, Gen. Thomas S. Power said today.

The chief of the U.S. Strategic Air Command said the only way the Soviet Union can be deterred from risking such an onslaught is for an alert force of American strategic bombers to be in the air at all times.

Power spoke at a meeting of the American Legion's National Security Commission.

"I am confident that the Soviets will be strongly deterred from risking an attack on this country as long as they know that they cannot destroy the alert force nor prevent it from retaliating decisively," he said.

In an address to the same group, Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) urged that more than a billion dollars a year be spent to keep SAC planes aloft at all times.

He urged increased spending also for other defense equipment.

Power said that when the Soviet Union reaches the estimated peak of its missile superiority in about two years, "we will have no active defense whatever" against their ballistic missiles. He said the United States will lack a fully operational and tested warning system which "under all circumstances will give SAC enough warning to get the alert force airborne before it can be destroyed on the ground."

Power said that keeping a portion of its strategic bombers in the air had been tested thoroughly and found to be "entirely feasible."

Declares U. S. Reluctant in World Affairs

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called the United States today a reluctant debaucher in the art of world management.

Touching on world problems at a luncheon in his honor, the touring British Prime Minister said the Soviet Union is a bumptious and imperialist nation but the United States is a reluctant debaucher.

Indirectly mentioning President Eisenhower's coming visit to the Soviet Union, Macmillan said: "My visit to Moscow recently was not well received, but it seems nowadays everybody is visiting everybody else."

Goldminers here gave Macmillan a practical addition to his collection of hats.

Inspired by his eye-catching white fur hat which he wore in Moscow last year, the miners gave him a fiber mining helmet, painted white, with a safety lamp attached.

Street clashes broke out Wednesday in Moscow. In a Mediterranean port of 50,000 about 200 miles west of Algiers, French soldiers fired shots to disperse a demonstration by a crowd of mostly Moslems marching on City Hall demanding work and shouting "Long live De Gaulle." There were reports that 20 Moslems were injured, but none by gunfire.

Home guards in Algiers who are siding with the insurgents, intervened at a postal bank Wednesday when Moslem employees tried to get it reopened for business.

Gen. De Gaulle showed no indication of budging from his determination to let the Algerians eventually decide their own future — integration with France, home rule under France or independence.

The solid support of De Gaulle by the people in France has shaken the spirits of the rebellious settlers but their leaders are holding firm in trying to force a modification of his policy.

The insurgents had counted on a wave of popular support in France of something like that touched off by the Algerian revolt in May 1958.

French army commanders took the side of the settlers in that bloodless uprising which toppled the Fourth French Republic and paved the way for De Gaulle to gain power. Many of the same revoltists are leading the current revolt.

Frenchmen Ease Strike Situation in Algeria Riots

PARIS (AP) — The French delegate general in Algiers, Paul Delouvrier, said today President Charles de Gaulle will soon issue orders to the army facing a tight wing insurrection in Algeria.

In a radio speech from Algiers, Delouvrier addressed himself to the officers and men of France's regular army in Algeria.

He said they must obey their commander-in-chief, Gen. Maurice Challe, "who obeys the president of the republic."

PARIS (AP) — Paul Delouvrier, French delegate general in Algiers, said tonight he and the military commander in chief are leaving Algeria for a command post in the country side.

By ANDREW BOROWICZ

ALGIERS (AP) — Rebellious Frenchmen today eased a general strike which has paralyzed this city since their uprising against President Charles de Gaulle's self-determination policy for Algeria.

Food supplies began moving in the capital and utilities began functioning in response to sympathetic appeals to the barricaded insurgents by De Gaulle's representatives.

The army announced that a state of siege and martial law remains in effect in the tense capital.

But authorities lifted censorship without explanation to let correspondents tell the full story of the revolt since it broke five days ago. Armed insurgents still cling to the barricades. They were firmly in control of an area in the heart of the city. Paratroopers ringed the insurgent encampment, but made no move to invade.

Insurgent leaders called on the population to relax the general strike in answer to appeals from De Gaulle's delegate general to Algeria, Paul Delouvrier, and Gen. Maurice Challe, commander in chief of French forces in Algeria.

Challe stressed in his appeal that the French army was fighting to keep Algeria French and declared that the rebels have been demanding from De Gaulle.

The general strike paralyzed most Algerian cities since the uprising.

Restlessness of the Moslems created a danger of new violence. Some Moslems showed a back-to-work urge.

Few Things About Movies That Smell

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's time to take a deep breath of fresh air and consider the matters of movies that smell.

Los Angeles is the first city to be exposed to both the new scent-film processes. They are playing a block apart on a section of Wilshire Boulevard that should be called Smellorama Row.

Here are the two films: "Behind the Great Wall" — The movie, it's a documentary about Red China. Filmed by Lin-lins, with a photographic beauty that Hollywood seems to have forgotten about — or is too budget-conscious to attempt. It is both stunning and frightening, especially in the climax scene of a monstrous parade of Chinese might.

The process, it's called Aramarama and the odors are piped through the air conditioning. This gives you the feeling of sitting in a windstorm at times.

The best smell comes in the ponderous prologue when Chet Huntley cuts an orange. You get it right away. Since the smells were added after the film was made, they are limited to rather obvious oriental ones, mostly musty and indistinguishable.

"Scent of Mystery." The movie, it's a chase along the lines of Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days," and done by Junior Todd with the same humor and mobility. The murder mystery is shot through with holes but it's good fun and Spain is gorgeously photographed. Peter Lorre is a gem in the role played in the earlier version by Cantinflas.

The process, Less elegantly titled Smell-o-Vision, it pipes the odors into the theaters via valves beneath the seats.

The smells are truer and more varied than in Aramarama. Best are the easily recognized ones: perfume, mint, wood shavings, roses. Some — pipe smoke, shoe polish, horses — are well high nauseating.

Korean Rail Accident Kills 31, Hurts 50

By K. C. HWANG

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Thirty-one holiday-bound Koreans were killed and 50 injured Tuesday night in what one survivor called the "living hell" of a human stampede at the Seoul railway station.

Eleven of the victims were children under 10.

They either suffocated or were trampled to death when hundreds of ticket buyers, dashing wildly to crowd into the last night train to Mokpo, piled up at the bottom of a steep stairway.

Officials said one person apparently slipped on the snow-covered stairs, starting a human avalanche.

Transportation Minister Kim Il Hwan resigned today after eyewitnesses blamed station officials

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

THE STORY: The medicine show now playing in Syracuse has some connection with Oscar, the butler of the rich and beautiful Madam Cissie Janeway. Orrin Appleade, however, has been asked to represent Gideon Weeks, proprietor of the troupe, in a damage suit revolving about the injury of a boy attached to the show.

CHAPTER XVI

I closed the office early because I wanted, I suppose, to start a little. I should have known Lottie better than to try it on her. She always had had a special way of pricking bubbles, especially if I had blown them. I walked rapidly home through autumn air that was agreeably weighted with the odor of burning leaves. Lottie, a long-handled wooden rake in her hands, was scuffling through the maple leaves which had fallen thickly.

She leaned on her rake, very young and lovely and somehow elfin, and made a face at me and said, "Go get a rake." There was no slight resemblance now between this gamin and the grand lady she had learned how to become when she saw reason for it.

I came back with a rake and commenced to help her pile up leaves in the driveway, where we could set them ablaze.

"All right, Alexander," she said presently, "what worlds did you conquer today?"

"I thought," I said, and the hurt of it must have been audible in my voice, "that you might have been glad to hear about it. I had two clients today."

"Oh, how nice!" she exclaimed genuinely.

"One of them," I said, "was David Hannum. He came in with George Hull. To get me to draw a bill of sale of the Cardiff Giant I charged him $5."

"So now you can buy me an enormous box of candy," she said.

"The other client," I went on, "was Gideon Weeks, the medicine show man."

She dropped her rake and clasped my arm. "What did he want, Orrin?"

"That little boy that they mesmerize," I said. "He was run over for the tragedy. The station master also was relieved of his duties. President Synnagman Rhee ordered an investigation."

More than 3,000 tickets had been sold for the train's 16 coaches—more than twice the number of seats—and the station gates were opened only five minutes before departure time.

Sixteen of the dead were women. Most of them were servants en route to their home in Mokpo, a seaport in southwest Korea, to celebrate the lunar calendar New Year, which falls Thursday.

by a dray. I'm to sue for damages on a contingent basis, and my fee might be as much as $2,000. I paused to let her exclaim about it. She became very grave.

"I don't like you to have that man for a client."

"Why in the world not? I demanded. And then I remembered the first time we had seen the medicine-show troupe and Mr. Weeks, and how Lottie had said she had seen him sometime, somewhere, and had seemed disturbed about it. "Do you know, it's a funny thing," I said before she could answer, "but today I had the same impression you had—that I had seen him before. But when I got to thinking it over, I knew I never had seen him before, but someone who looked like him."

"I see by the paper," said Lottie's father in his dry, ironic voice, "that they're havin' quite a time of it down to New York. Mebbe lootin' grocery stores and the like of that."

"Distress is said to be acute," replied Madam Janeway, who was the dinner guest of the Foxes at a casual evening gathering.

"But Syracuse," went on Uncle Lander, "is resting on a finer financial foundation. Paper says our drugstores sold 15,000 bottles of bitters and 3,000 two-ounce bottles of 'soothing' syrup this year to the virtuous and non-drinking citizens of this town. Calculate our future's safe, though I'd prefer to know which seed prefer's soothing syrup to bitters."

"Lander Fox!" said his wife sharply.

"Pante-proof business," Uncle Lander persisted. "I calculate to argue Silas here to quit salt boiling and go into patent medicine. It's got what you might call it humanitarian aspects. Think how many old wimmin it solaces for bony wives to deacons and elders and such like who have no other high jinks this side of the grave."

"Madam Janeway," said a embarrassed Mrs. Fox, "I hope you'll have no attention to my husband. Lander Fox, you're irreverent."

"Lost observing," said Uncle Lander. Like every time I've dropped around to this Umattilla Indian medicine show, Deacon Milliken's coachman's deer there buvin' two bottles. Looks like somebody's lavin' in a bulwark against the coming of a drought.

He uttered an arid cackle. "Beside which, this Umattilla Ellixir has taken pains not to disguise the taste of pure whiskey."

"The poor, starved things," Madam Janeway said sympathetically.

Uncle Lander was on his way

Heiress Is Charged as Wayward Girl

NEW YORK (AP) — Runaway heiress Gamble Benedict, charged as a wayward girl, goes into court today with a countercharge that she is being illegally detained by her socialite family.

The 19-year-old girl, who ran off to Paris several weeks ago with a married ex-chaffeur, Andre Porumbescu, was taken to girls' term court in Brooklyn Wednesday by her grandmother, Katherine Geddes Benedict.

Magistrate Corning G. McKennee made Gamble a ward of the court while investigating the wayward minor charge.

McKennee paroled her in custody of Mrs. Benedict pending a further hearing Feb. 28.

Porumbescu, 35, who flew in from Paris early Wednesday to be near Gamble, was in the Brooklyn Court House, but the pair did not meet.

In Manhattan Wednesday, Gamble's attorney, Philip Handelman, sought a habeas corpus writ charging the girl was being illegally detained by her family.

State Supreme Court Justice Samuel H. Hofstadter set a hearing for today.

Handelman produced in court a photostatic copy of a note scrawled by Gamble on toilet tissue. It read: "I am at 42 East 75th Street, held by my brother Help. Locked in. I love Andre."

Handelman said Gamble had the note smuggled to Samuel D. Mercer, a lawyer who represented her in Paris. Handelman didn't say how he got the note.

The Romanian-born Porumbescu, married and the father of a young child, is estranged from his wife. He has said his wife has consented to a divorce and and not to be stopped. "I'm not a drinking man, as all Syracuse can testify, but I've tried 'em all, in the interests of science — Kieckapoo Ellixir of Life, Hokenederfer's Bitters, a dozen others — and this Umattilla tippie is the tastiest of all. Also," Uncle Lander finished up, "they got the best show."

"You seen it, Madam?"

"I've not seen it," Madam said, not unobscurely. "That sort of exhibition wouldn't entertain me, I fear."

Lottie whispered in my ear almost inaudibly. "And it hasn't seen her."

"What do you mean by that?" I demanded.

"Since they've been in town," Lottie said, "Madam has been practically invisible."

"Nonsense," I said tartly. "What did you say, Orrin?" my mother asked.

"The Umattilla tribe," Lottie said, "has become clients of Orrin's."

please. He was mobbed by dinner guests seeking autographs when he descended from the dais to table-hop about the banquet hall in Washington.

If there was a discordant note in an evening otherwise devoted to Republican unity, optimism and fund raising, it was that Rockefeller made no mention of Nixon while praising highly Eisenhower's accomplishments.

This led to some sharp questioning by reporters who followed his hand-shaking progress from table to table.

Why hadn't he mentioned Nixon, the man whose nomination he apparently assured by taking him self out of the presidential race? "I came here to honor one man, President Eisenhower," he replied.

Eisenhower sounded the keynote for the Republican campaign by bearing down on the theme that his administration had brought the country peace and prosperity without war.

The President told a cheering audience of about 7,000 persons that Democratic critics are wrong in contending that the Soviet Union has moved ahead or ahead of this country in military might. He said these critics are engaged in "noisy trumpeting about daz-zling military schemes."

But it was his central theme of a balanced budget and a private enterprise economy that drew 17 of a total of 23 bursts of applause from his listeners. They roared their approval when he said that some politicians seem to think mistakenly there is a "sanitized dollar"—one that won't shrink.

900 Arkansas Republicans at Dinner

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — More than 900 Arkansas Republicans gathered here for a "Dinner with Ike" heard Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas endorse the presidential candidacy of Vice President Nixon last night.

The most repeated remark at the Hotel Marion gathering was, "who said there aren't any Republicans in Arkansas."

The Little Rock dinner was one of 80 held in cities across the country. The $25-a-plate guests heard a speech by President Eisenhower via closed circuit television. Nixon also appeared on the television program.

Carlson was the "live" speaker. He said Nixon "has the invaluable experience of first-hand training on all our major problems, both foreign and domestic."

Before Carlson spoke, Harry Pollock of Fort Smith, state treasurer for the GOP, lead two cheers — "I Like Ike" and "I Like Nixon."

Carlson praised Eisenhower lavishly, calling him "a warrior turned peacemaker... the hope of millions throughout the world."

The senator then devoted most of his speech to a review of the nation's progress under the Eisenhower administration.

The suit alleges Walker violated five provisions of the Civil Aeronautics Act while operating a plane in his business. A civil penalty of $1,000 was asked for each violation.

The charges grew out of an airplane crash on Sept. 22, 1958. The plane, which belonged to Walker, was demolished and D. N. Gorman, who was piloting it, was injured.

He intends to marry Gamble since her husband's romance with Gamble, however, Mrs. Porumbescu disappeared and is listed as a missing person. She is believed to be somewhere in Germany.

Outside the courthouse after the Brooklyn hearing, Porumbescu waved to Gamble as she was driven away with her grandmother in the family limousine.

Porumbescu told newsmen: "A light came into her face when she realized I was here. She tried to roll down the window but they stopped her. They are treating her like an animal. She looks pale and somehow older."

Pal Will Not Embarrass Mr. Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Booneville man who held a controversial beer permit has surrendered it voluntarily in order to keep from embarrassing his friend, Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

This was announced today by Theo. Money of Waldron, chairman of the state Alcohol Beverage Control Board. He said the holder, Ray Farris, surrendered the permit at a board meeting yesterday.

A delegation of Booneville residents visited Faubus recently and urged him to knock out the permit so the southern part of Logan County could remain dry.

At that time, Faubus assured the delegation he would get rid of the permit as soon as possible.

Money said Farris is a "good friend of the governor and did not want to embarrass him or the ABC board, so in view of the opposition he voluntarily surrendered the permit."

The Sarris permit was issued for Washburn, township, about three miles from Booneville on Highway 23. Farris said he had never used the permit to sell beer and had not built any establishment.

The controversy started several months ago. Acting Board Director Ted Christy rejected Farris' application for a permit but the board overruled him and granted it on July 13. There was considerable opposition to the permit among Logan County residents.

Despite the dry status of south Logan County, alcoholic beverages may be purchased in the north half.

Faubus Has Two Engagements

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus will speak in Mountain Home tomorrow night and then head for Fayetteville to attend mid-term commencement at the University of Arkansas Saturday.

At Mountain Home, the governor will address a graduating class on adult education.

Dardanelle Schools Closed by Influenza

DARDANELLE, Ark. (AP) — Dardanelle schools are closed because of an outbreak of influenza. Supt. Samuel M. King said the schools shut down because about one-fourth of the 1,000 pupils in the system were absent.

The schools are due to reopen Monday.

Dardanelle is the first community in Arkansas to report closing of public schools because of influenza this year.

Two Catholic schools at Fort Smith closed for this reason earlier in the week.

One, St. Boniface, reopened yesterday and the other, St. Anne's, will reopen Monday.

A high incidence of flu was reported in the state, particularly in northwest Arkansas.

N. Hampshire May Write-in Rockefeller

By RELMAN MORIN
CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Undercurrents of sentiment for New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller are still running in New Hampshire today.

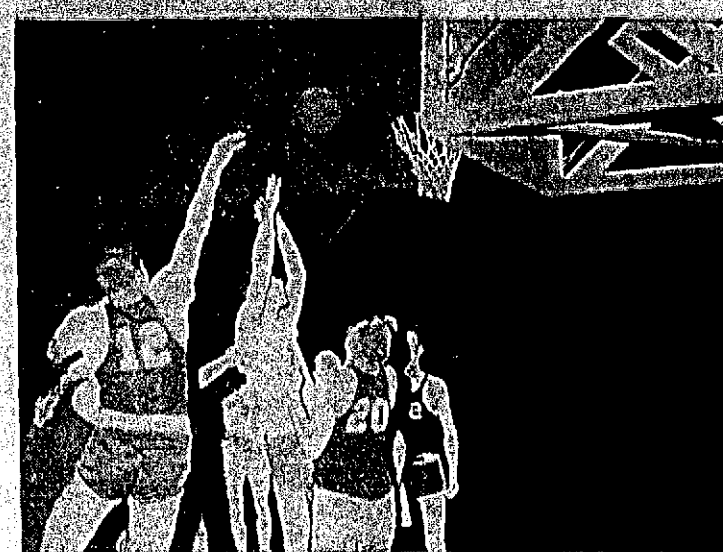

How deep and strong they may be is difficult to gauge since Rockefeller is not a candidate in the state's primary election March 2. Vice President Richard M. Nixon is running unopposed on the Republican side of the ballot. However—

1. The organization formed for Rockefeller is still intact. It became inactive after he announced, last Dec. 26, that he would not try for the GOP nomination for president. "We're keeping our powder dry and waiting to see what will happen," says State Rep. Robert S. Monahan, one of the original leaders of the pro-Rockefeller movement.

2. They declined Gov. Wesley Powell's invitation to join the Nixon camp after Rockefeller's announcement in December.

3. Two men and a woman have filed for election as delegates "favorable" to Rockefeller. An-

DOROTHY DIX

One Husband Speaks Out!

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Quite often this situation is aired in your column: "He won't talk to me when he comes home. What shall I do?"

I often wonder if these women have any conception of what it means to meet the public every day, all day, talking to customers, to people under them, or those with whom they work. It's no pink tea. Men are just plain tired and talked out after a long day at the office. There are exceptions of course, but what chit-chat their wives do give forth isn't worth the effort to answer. These women need to make their talk more interesting.—E. B. Johnson

Dear Mr. Johnson: I'm grateful to any reader who registers an opinion. But I don't agree with all you say. The husband who claims up come evening isn't weary, he's bored. Let a pretty gal trip in and he'll talk with the fervor of an office-seeker on the last lap of a campaign. Those who would change the situation might find helpful hints in my two leaflets "The Ideal Husband" and "The Ideal Wife." Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of this paper, with your request.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I'm 18 years of age and in my second year of high school. I met a boy in his last year at high. We went together six months and got engaged. Everything was fine until his parents interferred. Last summer he went away to work and went around with another girl. We broke up. Now he's going to varsity and I'm continuing at school. Lately I received letters from him accusing me of different things. In the last he asked forgiveness. I love him but I am afraid the same thing might happen again. Would it be right to forgive him?—Heartbroken R.H.

Dear Heartbroken R. H.: Think IT THROUGH. Have his parents changed their attitude?

Dear Dorothy Dix:

We read in the papers about juvenile delinquency. I have two teen-age boys that I am very proud of. I know where they are and what they are doing. My husband and I enjoy children. We work with organizations to help keep children out of trouble and to help out those who are in trouble. A boy scout troop asked me to get them boxes for a cake sale. I was refused by every bakery in this town. For the sake of losing one sale they have turned down these boys who are out to do good. What can children give us if we don't give them something—Mrs. Esther M. Wine

Dear Mrs. Wine: It is disheartening to get the brush-off, particularly in a good cause, but—other man is expected to enter the lists in the next few days. The four express varying degrees of optimism about their chances for election.

4. No movement to organize a write-in vote for Rockefeller has developed. However, it is generally expected that voters will inscribe his name on the presidential preference side of the ballot, known as the "beauty contest."

How many? That's the big question. You hear of communities where pro-Rockefeller sentiment is reported still strong. However, observers do not believe the feeling extends over the state as a whole. In short, the Rockefeller people remain hopeful that, somehow, a groundswell will get under way and sweep Rockefeller to the nomination. They also hope that, if they keep singing the praises of the New York governor, it will increase his potential write-in vote.

The hope seems slim. Nixon's backers — 23 have filed for election as delegates favorable to him — include most of the GOP political powerhouses in New Hampshire and Nixon's name is formally on the ballot and Rockefeller's is not.

Rockefeller's name will be listed under those of delegate candidates seeking election as "favorable" to him. Under state law, the candidates were able to file as "favorable" without the governor's sanction and he was powerless to prevent his name from appearing on the ballot in this fashion.

In the coming primary, Democrats and Republicans can only vote for candidates and delegates of their respective parties. The GOP vote is usually about 2 1/2 times greater than the Democratic vote.

Laroche Brings Out That Shapely Look

By MADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—The shapely look is Guy Laroche's handsome contribution to spring fashion.

In his opening today he featured slim, trim, cummerbund suits and dresses that let a good figure show to best advantage. Busts and hips are curvy and the waistline flatteringly small, but never pinched. Belts and button cummerbunds are up to eight inches wide and build up from the natural waistline for a high-waisted look.

Legs are on the show too. Skirts barely cover the knee. Laroche likes tiny checks and soft plaids. Sometimes pockets at the waistline replace the cummerbund. Long, waisted suits go to mid-thigh, but are still cinched under the bust line, with the waist curved in.

Daytime colors are pale pink, blue, green and beige. Like other French designers this season, Laroche plays with plaids. One suit skirt had a six-inch band of flat plaids around the hem. A dress of thin wool crepe and several silk blouses had slim skirts knife-pleated from mid-thigh.

Prettiest Laroche creations were all-beaded Chinese sheaths that faithfully followed the figure. He made several long, snaky children's formal with shiny bead banding.

Cocktail dresses were a new version of the princess silhouette, the skirts belled out but drawn in again slightly at the hem. Necklines were wide, shallow scoops in front and deep diving U's behind.

Doubts Competition Will Be Cuthroat

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus doubts if current competition will result from the South's desire for new industries. "Southern governors have been trying to hold such competition off as long as possible," he said yesterday. A reporter had asked him to comment on the possibility that Mississippi might reduce its income taxes as an industrial lure.

Faubus said new industrial financing laws passed by a recent special session of the Legislature merely put Arkansas on a competitive par with neighboring states.

Fire Gimmick Used in Polio Drive

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—When sirens howled in Camden last night, many residents jumped in their automobiles and followed fire trucks and ambulances to Carnes Park.

There was a fire, all right. But the whole thing turned out to be a device for collecting money in the March of Dimes anti-polio campaign.

A big pile of trash was burning in the park. Firemen were on hand to supervise the blaze, which was their headquarters. The trucks and ambulances were "decoys" which had been stationed around town. How did all this affect the Dimes drive? "Police took away the trucks and ambulances after the parade," said a Dimes official. "The trucks had to be sold for $1 for the campaign in order to leave." As another fund-raising measure, minor traffic violations in Camden were settled through donations to the March of Dimes during the evening. If a driver made a contribution, the cop tore up the ticket. About $180 was raised in the promotion.

All-Star Games to Be Played the Same Day

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The high school all-star games, highlight of the Arkansas summer sports season, will be played as a day-night doubleheader Aug. 13.

Since the all-star series started in 1950, the basketball and football games have been played on separate nights.

This year the basketball contest will be played in the afternoon at Barton Coliseum and the football affair at night at War Memorial Stadium here.

The executive committee of the Arkansas High School Coaches Assn., sponsor of the games, made the schedule change yesterday.

The 1956, 1957 and 1958 basketball games were played on Friday night. This conflict each year with the nationally televised College All-Star game in Chicago so last year the contest was changed to Thursday night. This was unsatisfactory, the committee said, because it left a two-day lapse between games.

And the committee hopes that more out-of-town fans will attend both games. If they are held on the same day.

The committee announced that University of Arkansas Head Coach Frank Broyles would be one of the football lecturers at the annual coaching clinic which starts Aug. 10. The other man will be chosen from among Frank

Independent Hope Team Wins in Meet

The Hope Independents advanced last night in the Prescott Invitational tournament by defeating Mt. Ida 86 to 78 in an overtime.

Thanks to not shooting of Abernathy, Mt. Ida tied the game 74-74 at the end of the fourth. In the overtime game, Hope poured it on for a victory. For Hope, Mitchell tossed in 24, Franks 10, Homan 17, Nix 5, Purdie 4, Town 6, Bruce 7, and Odom 4. Mt. Ida's Abernathy made 32, Wilson 10 and Lawrence got 12.

This advanced Hope to the semi-finals. The locals will play the winner of the Glenwood-Prescott game Friday night at 8:30.

In other play Magnolia advanced with an 88 to 47 win over Delight. In the first round Magnolia beat Texarkana 91 to 50; Delight downed Willisville 70 to 60. Glenwood beat Cale 54 to 52; Prescott beat Texarkana Airbase 50 to 44 and Hope blasted Camden 72 to 48.

Dayton Flyers Snap Streak of West Virginia

By DON WEISS

Looks as if the Dayton Flyers, who make the National Invitation Basketball Tournament a March habit, will be heading to New York at tournament time again. Coach Tom Blackburn has blended sophomores Gary Roggenbuck and Tom Hallon with holdovers Frank Case, Mike Allen and Stan Greenberg into a team that's more than making up for last season's club that blew an NIT bid by dropping five of its last six games.

Henry Hank Stops Bowdry in the 6th

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Ever since fighter Henry Hank, a onetime Detroit zoo helper, beat a caged lion to the punch, his reflexes have been sharp.

Hank, 24 years old and out-weighted 165 to 173, showed his shots Wednesday night by flooring Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis twice in the third round and nailing him again in the sixth for a technical knockout.

After his sensational TV fight in Chicago Stadium, Hank, father of five children, told interviewers: "I'm a full time fighter now, but a couple of years ago I had to take part time work to make ends meet," he said. "There was this lion dozing near the bars of his cage. I never touched a lion before and I followed an urge to do it."

"I reached in and one of his paws reached for me. I got my hand out in time."

His spirits rising with this story, Hank No. 5 ranked middleweight, continued:

"I'm glad everybody liked me in this fight. There are four guys ahead of me in the ratings and I could take three of them out the same night."

"I would get Ray Robinson, an old man, and the guy who beat him, Paul Pender, by the third or fourth rounds."

"Gene Fullmer is stronger. I would nail him in the sixth. As for Spider Webb—he would be the easier of all—he's made for me and it would take only three rounds."

Hank, a chopping, two-fisted power puncher, was impressively probably showing the most skill in the stadium ring than any other fighter in several years. He now has 28 kayos in 40 victories.

Concern of Women Change Habits

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Women's concern about their figure and self-image at the grocery store is changing their meat eating habits.

So, Jerry Sotola of Chicago, as social director of research for Armour and Co., observes.

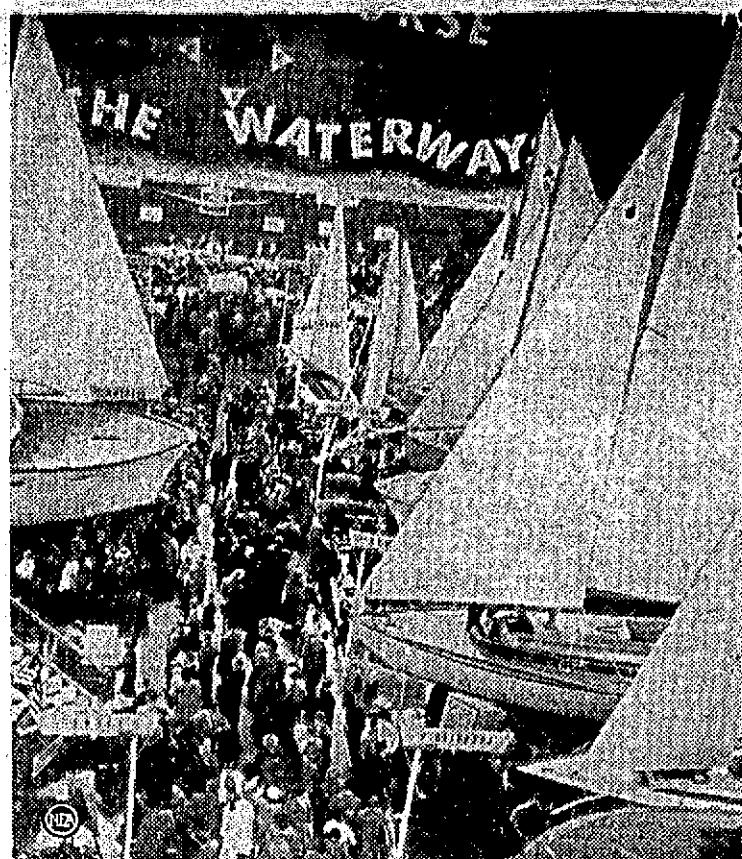

In Little Rock for the seventh annual agricultural credit conference of the Arkansas bankers association, Sotola said that competition had been intensified between beef and lamb through packaged meat.

The trend now, he said, is from pork to beef because production leans toward meat type hogs rather than the lard type. Per capita consumption now is 83 pounds of beef to 67 of pork, he said.

Sotola said his company was interested particularly in the Arkansas poultry industry's scientific production methods. He said poultry consumption per capita is 32 pounds.

Sotola referred to the mounting cow production and said 1962 might see a price slump. He also said hog raisers are wondering what 4.6 billion bushels of corn on hand and low prices will bring. He added they are thriving for more efficient production with emphasis on the meat type hog.

The meat company official, saying sheepmen are concerned over importations from New Zealand and Australia, warned that the

Ribs of Beef and Chicken Good Buys

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Take your pick between two popular favorites—Ribs of beef or frying chicken—for next Sunday's dinner.

Both are featured specials in many supermarkets and neighborhood groceries this week. Beef is as low as 59 cents a pound compared with a minimum of 65 cents a pound a year ago, while fryers are 39 cents a pound against 45.

Beef ribs are the No. 1 item in many stores along the East Coast, in the Midwest and Far West, while chicken is tops in the South, East and Midwest.

Fish lovers will find scallops at bargain levels along the East Coast, while halibut is marked down in the mid-Atlantic states and Midwest.

Sirloin steak and leg of lamb are more expensive in a few areas and eggs are down 2 cents or so in others.

There are prospects of higher prices for some winter vegetables due to another cold snap in Florida growing areas.

Hardest hit, growers said, were beans, cucumbers, squash, tomatoes, sweet corn and peppers. All are more expensive this week.

Bargain hunters are advised to turn to outstanding buys such as carrots, medium yellow onions, potatoes, parsley, spinach, mushrooms and cooking greens like collard, kale, mustard greens and turnip greens.

Florida citrus fruit generally came through the cold weather with only spots of damage, so oranges and grapefruit are still included on the best buy list. Eastern apples and California avocados also are outstanding buys.

Drug Firms Charged With Monopoly

By Jerry T. Baugh
WASHINGTON (AP)—Two drug companies under fire from Senate antitrust subcommittee were charged by the government Wednesday with unlawfully conspiring to monopolize the market in mild tranquilizers.

Henry H. Hoyt, president of Carter Products, Inc., was testifying before the group, defending his pricing practices, when filing of the civil suit in U.S. Dist. Court in New York was announced by Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Committee Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said it appeared to him that Hoyt's company appeared to be saying "We will charge what the traffic will bear."

In this country, Hoyt replied that there was no such intention.

Witnesses for the other company involved in the suit, American Home Products, also of New York, are to follow the Carter spokesman in the Senate inquiry into drug prices.

Carter produces Miltown tranquilizer pills, and American Home Products markets Equanil tranquilizer pills. Both are meperidine, on which Carter holds the patent.

The government's suit asked the court in New York for an order designed to "establish free and unfettered competition in the sale of all drugs in which meperidine is used as an ingredient."

The Justice Department said such an order could require Carter to make its meperidine patent available to anyone desiring to use it without charge, or set up a licensing system involving reasonable royalties.

The suit charged that Carter and American Home Products had forced the public to pay artificially high and noncompetitive prices for tranquilizers and had discouraged development of products in which meperidine might be used as an ingredient.

The suit said sales of Miltown and Equanil had totaled 40 million dollars in 1958. Robert A. Bicker, in charge of Justice Department antitrust prosecutions, said the suit had resulted from an investigation started in 1958.

There was no immediate indication what effect, if any, the government's suit would have on the Senate investigation of the two companies. This was the second day of quizzing Carter officials.

The subcommittee had data to show that foreign users of Miltown can buy it for as low as a fourth of the prices charged users of Miltown in the United States.

The lowest cited was 35 cents a bottle in Argentina for 50 tablets, compared with $5.42 to consumers in this country.

Woman Faces False Pretense Charge

MARSHALL, Ark. (AP)—A Missouri woman faces false pretense charges in connection with an industrial plant which operated less than a month.

Prosecutor John B. Driver said he had charged Mrs. Gladys Ellis, about 55, of Monett, Mo., in connection with a fund-raising campaign to finance a garment plant here.

Driver said the Marshall Indus-

An Exotic Dessert And Coffee Bring Sunshine To The Table

In the midst of winter, it's sometimes fun to make a dessert that hints of swaying palms and tropic shores. Here's one that should certainly create the proper illusion, whether you serve it in a northern, fire-lit dining room or on a Palm Beach patio. It's Tropical Coffee Jelly, an exotically delicious confection to serve with fragrant coffee.

Tropical Coffee Jelly is a beautiful, shimmering gelatin mold that derives its marvelous flavor from coffee, spices, candied ginger and nutmeats. The dark gelatin is topped with a mixture of sliced bananas and flaky coconut, then served with a side dish of sour cream. Indeed, the first delectable mouthful is the very essence of southern sunshine! Int. to complete your culinary illusion, you need still another tropical favorite... hot coffee. It should be freshly brewed and full bodied.

Just the way you'd have it south of the border.

Tropical Coffee Jelly

4 cups strong, hot coffee
1 whole clove
2-inch stick cinnamon
allspice berries
3 envelopes unflavored gelatine
1 cup cold water
1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped nutmeats
2 tablespoons minced candied ginger
2 bananas, sliced
1 cup flaked coconut
Dairy sour cream

Combine coffee and spices in saucepan. Simmer 10 minutes and strain. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve with sugar in hot spiced coffee. Chill until syrupy. Fold in nuts and ginger. Spoon into 6-cup ring mold. Chill until set. Unmold on serving plate. Fill center with sliced bananas and coconut. Serve dairy sour cream separately. Makes 6 servings.

Probers Told to Be Cautious on Food Color

WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman House member appealed to Congress today to move cautiously in regulating colors that go into food and cosmetics lest the new rules jeopardize health.

Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan (D-Mo.) told the House Commerce Committee that a Senate-passed bill now before the committee to change the color additive law has "glaring loopholes."

"I sincerely urge that you make haste slowly... for you are dealing with the health of the American people in the most direct manner possible," Mrs. Sullivan said.

She challenged recommendations Tuesday by Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming that the government be permitted to set tolerances that would allow use in limited quantities of colors now banned from the market on grounds they are harmful.

Flemming, the opening witness at a series of committee hearings on the politically explosive additive issue, said tests show that although some colors are harmful in large quantities, they can be used safely in small amounts, as in lipstick.

Mrs. Sullivan, noting that several lipstick colors face a government ban Feb. 1 unless Congress acts, told the committee: "I am not quite sure I see how the consumer is being damaged by the removal of these colors."

But, she said, she can "readily see why many industries want legislation enacted which would set up entirely new criteria for approving the use of coloring matter."

Flemming told the committee Tuesday there is no evidence that the lipstick coloring now facing a ban can cause cancer. He added that in large quantities some colors used in lipsticks can cause liver and spleen damage in test animals.

Music Used to Stop Dental Pain

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Music and the recorded roar of a waterfall have been used successfully to stop pain during dental treatment, Dr. Harold Wirth of New Orleans said at the Dallas Midwinter Dental Clinic Tuesday.

The machine was developed under the auspices of Tufts University after it had been discovered that workers in noisy industrial areas had suffered accidents without experiencing pain, indicating, Dr. Wirth said, that noise numbs portions of the brain recording pain.

Dental patients are fitted with light-fitting earphones. Controls enable them to increase the volume as needed to knock out the pain.

Kansas Coach Is Hung in Effigy

LAWRENCE, Kas. (AP)—Dick Harp, University of Kansas basketball coach, was the object of an effigy hanging on the university campus late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

His teams have won 62 and lost 29.

The girls learn cosmetology, business training and laundering and dietary work. Several of the girls go to business school in Little Rock to study secretarial work.

"Some of the girls are getting a lot of benefit from the school," Faubus said today, adding he was proud of the school's accomplishments.

"It is doing something besides just taking them (the girls) off the streets and getting them out of their old environment."

Says School Facilities Must Expand

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today it appeared physical facilities at the state girls' training school must be expanded to relieve crowded conditions there.

The governor, at a news conference, said he was convinced the situation at the school was "no temporary thing" and permanent relief must be found.

Only yesterday the school's board of control was advised by its superintendent, Mrs. Dortha Martin, that the school had 69 girls, two more than it has beds.

trial Committee gave Mrs. Ellis $51,000 last summer. Most of the money was to be used to equip a 100-worker plant.

The plant operated less than a month after it opened Oct. 1. Driver said, and it was later discovered that a Tennessee firm held title to machinery on which Mrs. Ellis had given the industrial committee a mortgage.

Charges include obtaining money under false pretense, giving a mortgage of property illegally and removing mortgaged property from Searey County.

Driver said Mrs. Ellis was arrested last week at Eureka Springs. Her bond was set at $11,000.

Seven girls are on the waiting list at the school but room was made for them by the parole of seven girls to their parents.

Mrs. Martin said a new program has something new besides "custodial care." She said classroom work was now offered.

"Another thing," she said, "When the number of girls got down to four a couple of years ago, it wasn't because the need of the school wasn't here. It was because the county judges had lost confidence in the school program and felt the girls would be better off in their own communities. Now all that has changed."

The school curriculum is under the supervision of Saline county.

Symington Raps Ike's Administration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) today charged the Eisenhower administration with misuse and manipulation of intelligence data about the Soviet Union's missiles.

"The intelligence books have been juggled so the budget books may be balanced," Symington said in a 2,000 word statement.

"The missile gap is greater than 3 to 1," he told a news conference at which he released the statement.

Symington said he realized he would be accused of playing politics by those who prefer "a content of the facts; and by others who do not know the facts."

The Missouri Senator has said he would like to be President but is not an announced candidate.

Symington, who was Secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration, said he favored adding billions of dollars to defense outlays in the immediate future in order to rush production of U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles.

He was asked about the contention by Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. that there is no "deterrent gap" in U.S. defense against possible surprise Soviet attack.

"That may be true," Symington

63,000 Checks for Welfare Clients

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A state Welfare Department official said today that increased welfare checks for some 63,000 clients will be prepared next month.

The increase of an average $6 per week was announced recently by the department and Gov. Orval E. Faubus but the starting date for the raise has just been decided.

Assistant Welfare Commissioner A. J. Moss said writing of checks will begin about mid-February. It is expected that the larger payments about March 1, he added.

Barrymore Death Remains Mystery

NEW YORK (AP)—The cause of the death of actress Diana Barrymore remained a mystery today. An autopsy failed to show "any evident cause," and further investigations were ordered.

Miss Barrymore, 38, was found dead in bed at her East Side apartment Monday by her maid.

Several empty liquor bottles and sedatives were near the bed. Police said there was no evidence of suicide. Miss Barrymore tried five years ago to take her life with an overdose of sleeping pills.

She said but added that as a basis for this "they have thrown in everything but the kitchen stove this year."

The January Money Thaw Is Easing

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The traditional January thaw in the money market is easing some of the fears today that tight money will mean still higher interest rates and maybe a slowdown in the business boom.

More worrisome perhaps is the statement by the head of the largest steel company that steel stocks are being rebuilt again. Some think that this rebuilding, when completed, will mark the boundaries of the boom as we now know it.

When the inventory shortage is over, the auto companies will be expected to carry the ball. Sales are reported picking up. If an old-fashioned spurt of car buyers comes this spring, everyone will feel better.

Some bankers say that a growing demand for loans will force the interest rates up again. They think now it will come after the Federal Reserve Board holds off for a few weeks to let the U.S. Treasury refund some securities coming due.

But the chairman of New York City's largest bank, John J. McCloy of Chase Manhattan, now sees a chance that the economy in general and financial conditions in particular will prove stable enough to let the bank rates stay where they are.

Traditionally the money market eases in January because of the return of money withdrawn for the Christmas trade.

High operating schedules of most steel mills have taken care of many customers' current needs. Roger M. Booth, chairman of U.S. Steel, thinks that the first three months of the year will see as much as 20 per cent of steel shipments going into depleted steel inventories.

Once they are rebuilt to safe proportions, steel ordering will return to scales determined by the sale of customers' products.

Inventory rebuilding has been the chief artificial factor in the current boom, which otherwise has been founded mainly on consumer demand.

Speculation as to when the big boom will taper off has been given no one reason for weakness in the stock market since the first of the year.

Auto makers continue to push production—and order steel to do the job—as they strive to build up dealers' inventories.

What they are watching now is sales. They picked up in the middle of January, perhaps because dealers had better selections to offer customers. But dealers' inventories continue to climb.

Chinese to Welcome the Year of Rat

TOKYO (AP)—More than 685 million Chinese from Peking to New York welcome the Year of the Rat this midnight with traditional pageantry and ear-splitting din.

The three-day lunar holiday ushering out the Year of the Pig will be enlivened by the spitting of firecrackers, clanging of gongs, and parades led by ferocious looking dragons.

For the 650 million people living in Red China, it will mark a breather from Peking's concentrated labor program to industrialize the country.

Plans for this year's celebration in Peking are bigger than ever before, suggesting that the Communists realize a little relaxation is called for.

Flu Stricken School Reopens

PORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—St. Boniface, one of two Catholic schools which has been closed this week by influenza, reopened today.

St. Anne's the second school, will remain closed until Monday.

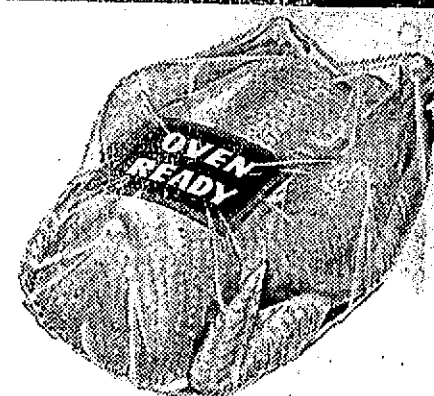

There have been reports of a high incidence of flu in the schools, especially in northwest Arkansas, but no other closings have been reported.

It's Time To Celebrate

PUT the candles on the beans... it's birthday time! Everyone loves a party... everyone loves pork and beans.

Yes, canned pork and beans with tomato sauce have always been high on the list of food favorites... and especially so in families with children. When combined with canned fruit and topped with marshmallows... pork and beans become party fare. These two pantry shelf items are naturals together. They turn ordinary family meals into festive occasions.

To go along with the party bean casserole, bake a slice of juicy ham... and serve with it a crisp cabbage and carrot salad. Of course, no party is complete without cake. Make it gingerbread dusted with powdered sugar. But remember... put the candles on the beans for this occasion!

Festive Beans

- 2 cans (1 pound each) pork and beans with tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup pineapple tidbits (or chunks)
- 1 Dash ground cloves
- 8 marshmallows

In shallow baking dish (10"x6"x2") combine beans, pineapple, and cloves. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 15 minutes. Arrange marshmallows on top; bake for another 15 minutes. Insert candles in marshmallows. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings. FNS

Just a Few Comments of Pavement Plato

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato: Who should pay for a boy's college education, his parents or Uncle Sam?

At present millions of U.S. parents are impoverishing their old age in order to help their offspring win one of civilization's most prized status symbols, a university degree.

Most students shoulder a share of the burden by working part-time to meet some of their expenses. But the main financial blow falls on their parents—that is, unless their son is one of those rare lads who can hit a ball's eye with a football at 60 yards.

Many a family has to mortgage its homestead in order that its tribal selen can pursue subjects such as "The History of Early Roman Band Instruments" at old Slawish. Many a father and mother make do with an old suit or old dress so junior can buy a tux to attend his fraternity dance.

The only help Uncle Sam gives in most cases is to allow the parents a $600 annual deduction from their gross income for each son or daughter still in college after the age of 18. This small deduction, many parents feel, is a downright affront to common sense.

An embittered father I know had something to say on the subject. "When you get right down to it, a good case can be made for the idea that the federal government, not me, ought to pay for sending my boy through college," he declared.

"I'm just a sucker, in a way. I am breaking my back and risking bankruptcy so that my son will get his sheepskin. It is worth

Winter Nutrition With Beef Stew

Your family will enjoy a buffet supper planned just for them. It's a welcome change on these cold winter nights to have each person serve himself then find a cozy spot in front of the fireplace or TV.

Here is a simple, delicious and easy-to-serve supper idea. It's planned around hearty beef stew... colorful with chunks of browned beef, small white onions, and green beans. Canned condensed tomato soup gives the meat and gravy that "please-may-I-have-some-more" flavor. The soup adds much to the nutritional value of the stew, too. For canned condensed soups... while relatively low in calories... provide well-balanced calories. That means that there is a proper balance between the calories and nutrients they supply. Flavorwise... soup enriches the meal.

Complete the menu with a crisp salad of shredded cabbage and apple slices. Gingerbread topped with whipped cream is a winter favorite dessert. Your family will love you forever!

Remains of a New Guinea Crash Found

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—in the crash of a U.S. B25 aircraft. The remains of 10 men who died on a high mountain in New Guinea May 22, 1944, have been found.

The Department of the Army reported this to survivors of one of the victims.

The B25, carrying a crew of three and seven passengers, disappeared while on an administrative mission between Nadzab and Saidor, New Guinea.

Gen. R. V. Lee, adjutant general of the Army, wrote survivors that in May, 1959, information was received that the Lutheran mission at Lac, New Guinea, had been given certain U.S. Army publications which had been recovered from the wreckage of the plane found by natives at the headwaters of the Corp and Erap Rivers in New Guinea.

A search team found human remains, an identification tag engraved "Randall M. Dorton Jr.," and a leather breastplate from a flight jacket stamped: "R. J.

Two Women Face Trial for Murder

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Trial of two El Dorado women on second degree murder charges in the fatal stabbing of another woman has been postponed until March 16.

The defendants are Mrs. Shirley Sayles, 23, and Mrs. Ann White, 29, charged in the death of Mrs. Edith Arlene Gage, 23.

Circuit Judge Gus W. Jones granted the delay at the request of defense attorneys after he denied a motion to order separate trials for the defendants.

Mrs. Gage was killed in an El Dorado cafe last Aug. 16.

Citrus Best Prescription

This is the time of the year when colds plague the land — people stay home from work, youngsters stay home from school, as the common scourge takes its annual toll. Doctors advise people on how to keep resistance to respiratory ills at a high level, but too often, no one takes precautions until a cold is full-blown.

One of the safest and sanest things that everyone can do every day to keep the system toned up for colder, changeable weather influences is to get an adequate amount of vitamin C daily. Citrus fruits are the best natural source of this vitamin, and they represent the cheapest and pleasantest prescription for good health yet discovered.

This year's Florida crop of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines is right at its peak. You can find plenty of the handy little zipper-skin tangerines — the ones that Grandma called "punkin' oranges." They're ideal for lunch box use. The big juice oranges most plentiful this month are the Pineapple variety, and you're sure to get at least a quart of juice from every five pounds of these oranges. Easy to peel, it's a good idea to juice a dozen or more and keep the juice covered in a container in the refrigerator for mid-day snacks. There are good supplies of Temple oranges, too, this year — the ones that peel easily like tangerines.

Hot Springs Kennel Club Has New Lease

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Hot Springs Kennel Club has a new lease on life.

Pulaski Circuit Judge Guy Amisler yesterday ordered the state Racing Commission to restore to the club a temporary greyhound racing franchise revoked because of disputes among the kennel club owners.

A Racing Commission spokesman said Amisler's decision would be appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Milan S. Creighton, Kennel Club president, hailed the ruling. He said the club already had "expended a great deal of money in preparing to build the dog track." The club plans a $1,800,000 facility.

Dr. Ed Dunaway of Conway, racing commission chairman said the club had done nothing toward construction except to lease some land.

The proposed track has been a subject of controversy, both in and out of the courts, for many months. Garland County voters approved the track by a narrow margin but the Elections Commission ruled the vote had not carried because of a provision in the dog track law which states that a majority of qualified voters, not merely a majority of those voting, had to approve.

The Supreme Court invalidated that provision of the law.

Amisler said the commission revoked the franchise without proper notice and without a hearing. He said a hearing was not held until after the revocation order was issued and the commission thus acted illegally.

The permit involved in the litigation is a temporary one because a permanent franchise cannot be issued until a track is ready to operate.

Youth Killed in Shooting Accident

FORDYCE, Ark. (AP) — Jackie Rogers, 14, was killed yesterday by a blast from a .410 gauge shotgun in an accident at his home in nearby Carlthage.

Dallas County Coroner Carlton Mays said the gun discharged as the boy was taking it from a rack on a wall.

The charge struck the boy in the chest. Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers.

stone to complete freedom.

The settlers believe independence would place them at the mercy of the Moslem rebels they have fought for years.

De Gaulle is in an awkward spot. He cannot give in to the insurgents without jeopardizing whatever hope there is for negotiating a ceasefire with the Moslem rebels.

Barricades in Algeria Pose Big Problem

By ULYS YATES

PARIS — A handful of desperate men manning barricades in Algiers pose a crucial question for Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Should the harried President order his troops to attack the barricades, he risks sparking a much bigger explosion among Algerians — million European settlers, already enraged over his policy of self-determination.

The government's vastly superior military forces seemingly could crush the insurgents in a couple of hours, but De Gaulle might lose heavily if more blood were spilled.

The morale of the army already has been damaged by the conflict which has pitted it against Frenchmen. Sunday's clash between settlers and gendarmes which left 26 Moslems would choose independence and about 150 wounded has caused general revulsion and any more killing would do lasting damage to De Gaulle's prestige and influence in the all-important army.

Thus De Gaulle faces the task of getting the insurgents to lay down their arms without giving in to their demands for a French Algeria.

The bloody flareup and the die-hard determination to remain behind their barricades until their cause is won, is mainly the result of De Gaulle's failure to give the settlers what they regard as a satisfactory answer.

De Gaulle's proposed solution to end the five-year-old Algerian rebellion would allow Algerians — Moslem and European alike — to choose their own destiny once the peace is restored.

Under De Gaulle's plan, the Algerian population could choose one of three alternatives: (1) complete union with France; (2) local autonomy; or (3) outright independence.

The settlers are convinced that, given a chance, the nine million Moslems would choose independence. Even local autonomy, they fear, would only be a stepping

Want Brunch Fans?... Cook With Ale

Weekday breakfasts may necessarily have to be mundane, but Sunday breakfast, or brunch, can be more leisurely, more enjoyable for everyone... because there is time to do good things to good food!

Sausage is an all-time favorite, and here's a way to do it that will get your men folk to the table in jig time! The secret is the ale, which not only adds flavor, but allows the sausage links to cook fully, without becoming dry. An old custom — cooking with beer or ale — and one which will give you new menu triumphs!

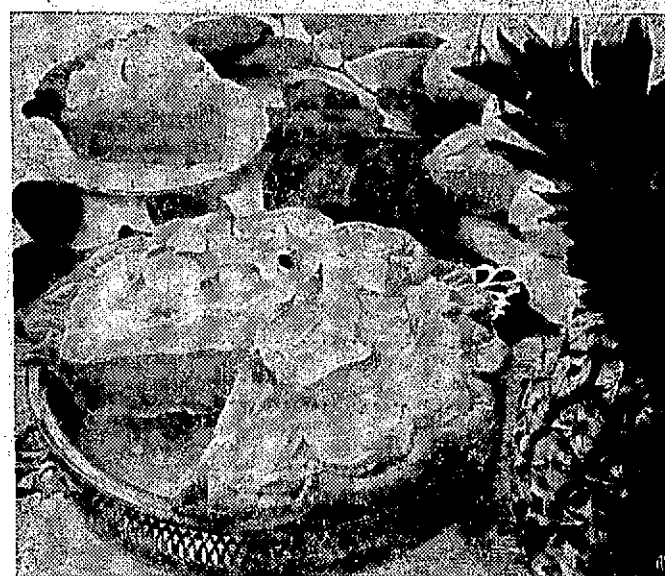

With scrambled eggs, or cheese souffle, these sausages can do well too for supper parties.

Link Sausage In Ale

- 2 pounds link sausage
- 1 12-ounce bottle or can of ale (1 1/4 cups)
- 6 whole cloves
- 1 bay leaf
- 4 peppercorns

Place link sausage in cold skillet. Cook over low heat 12 to 15 minutes, or until browned. Turn often and pour off fat as it accumulates. Add ale and remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 10 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Tropical Treat For Midwinter

A tropical dessert served in midwinter is a delightful way to chase cold-weather doldrums from your menu. Lemon and pineapple flavors, those favorites of warmer climates, will please the most jaded appetites when combined in Pineapple Lemon Meringue Pie, easily made with packaged lemon pudding and pie filling mix.

Pineapple Lemon Meringue Pie

- 1 package lemon pudding and pie filling mix
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 1/4 cups canned pineapple juice
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 cup water
- 1 baked 8-inch pie shell
- 2 egg whites
- 1/4 cup sugar

Combine pie filling mix, 1/4 cup sugar, and 1/4 cup of the pineapple juice in a saucepan. Add egg yolks and blend well. Then add remaining pineapple juice and water. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil and is thickened. (This takes about 5 minutes.) Remove from heat. Cool about 5 minutes. Stir once or twice; turn into baked 8-inch pie shell.

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Gradually add 1/4 cup sugar. Beat until meringue will stand in peaks. Pipe lightly on filling. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 5 to 10 minutes, or until meringue is lightly browned.

Shredded Wheat 'n Chicken Potpie

Give a new twist to chicken potpie by using an easy shredded wheat topping in place of pastry or biscuit topping. This cereal topping not only takes less time to prepare, but it provides a pleasant contrast, in both texture and flavor, to the creamy chicken and vegetable filling.

Busy homemakers know that the ingredient use of breakfast cereals saves time and energy in addition to increasing the nutritive value of recipes.

Shredded Wheat 'N Chicken Potpie

- 1 1/2 cups raw potatoes, cut in 1/2 inch cubes
- 1/4 cup thinly sliced raw carrot
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 cup water
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
- 2 cups diced cooked chicken
- 1 10 1/2-ounce can cream of chicken soup
- 1 cup finely crushed shredded wheat, bite-size, or long, spoon-size, or round biscuits
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Combine potatoes, carrots, onion, celery, water, and salt in covered saucepan. Simmer just until vegetables are tender, about 10 minutes. Add parsley, pimiento, pepper, monosodium glutamate, chicken, and chicken soup. Pour into shallow 1 1/2-quart baking dish (10x6x1 1/2 inches). Combine shredded wheat and butter or margarine; sprinkle over top of casserole. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) until shreds of wheat are lightly browned and mixture bubbles up around edge, about 20 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Demos Blazing Away in Three Directions

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The Democrats, like a bunch of cowboys in a shooting gallery, are blazing away in three directions at what will probably be their main targets for the whole presidential campaign.

President Eisenhower — with the complaint he's been a poor leader.

2. His administration — with the complaint of things left undone.
3. Vice President Richard M. Nixon — with various charges ranging from "clackery" to "molestation."

Trouble is the Democrats can't even guess this early in the year which target may pay off with the big eight — and which would blow up in their faces.
Picking on Eisenhower, still enormously popular after seven years in the White House, may be a waste of time if the public continues to hold him in high regard.
President Eisenhower — with

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) frankly looking for the Democratic presidential nomination, opened the attack on Eisenhower with the statement his administration's performance, or the lack of it, is the real campaign issue.
But last Saturday night, at a big Democratic get-together here, the emphasis shifted to Nixon who was tagged as a "juvenile delinquent" and a "clackery" and the "able, agile, Sir Richard the nimble."

Even attacking Nixon — and before this year is out the Democrats will probably be a lot tougher on him — could backfire by creating broad public sympathy for him as a martyr.
If Nixon has any ideas of making a free-wheeling campaign of it, he is a bit handicapped. He is almost certain to get the Republican nomination. He'll get Eisenhower's support.

Because of that support and because he has been smart and paid off of the whole administration, he'll hardly be in a position to be critical or promise anything very different.
This situation may force him into promising more of the same. That might be enough to win for him if the voters want more of the same.
It's possible that Democratic attacks on him may so irritate him that he will lose self-control and make mistakes through bad temper, damaging himself more than

NAACP Gets Data From L. R. Officials

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorneys for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People have taken testimony from Little Rock school officials on pupil placement procedures which resulted in assignment of nine Negroes to once White schools.
Wiley A. Branton of Pine Bluff, Ark., said the school board could have known all the dangers of this, and is a "slow politician" he has plenty of time to prepare himself against temper tantrums. He doesn't have to say much until the campaign starts anyway.

did most of the questioning yesterday.
Branton wants the testimony in connection with a pending federal court suit through which a number of Negroes hope to enter Central, Hall and Tech High Schools. The suit was filed after the schoolboard rejected such applications from 15 Negroes. Branton contends the board should assign all students by attendance areas.
The board assigned six Negroes to Central, three to Hall and none to Tech. One of the Central Negroes decided to attend college. Instead, "taking of pre-trial testimony is provided for in court procedure on civil cases," the testimony was not made public.
